"Yes, Fred and George promised to meet us here. I don't know where they can be." Can you find them?

The Week In Society.

AFTER ALL.

The new woman is brilliant I grant, fairly logical, too. For her views have been taken from Kant. With a rendering almost new. She feels a prophetic borne on the tide. Of an ocean of culture, broad and wide. She has been historian, philosopher, scientist, poet. With just enough knowledge to be able to show it; Yet take up her views in their different phases. Which is the knowledge that mere man praises? —Annie G. Murray, in the Club Woman.

SOCIETY IN MOTION.

The week has been quite gay enough to satisfy the demands of the most exacting. There were only four entertainments in one day, but that was an unusual record, though there have been a number of very "smart" affairs. There has been some informal entertaining, too, that has not been recorded. The "entre nous" party has been in evidence, the sort that is "strictly between you and me" and is not for the society reporter's ear, you know. Well, he knows it all anyway and is only sorry that he can not tell the public all about it, for some of them have been very pleasant affairs, really nothing to be ashamed of, and with a creditable guest list and it seems a pity to have them "born to blush unseen and waste their sweetness on the desert air," a party to fame unknown. The "Surprise (?) party" is still a fad of society this week. They are large and enthusiastic storm parties, and have been described as a "hold-up" by one's friends and are proving very taking.

Gay as it has been this week, Society is merely in training for the one to come, which might be characterized as "Paducah's Reception Week." A bright and prominent society woman who is decidedly in the swim, cleverly sums it up thusly: "I expect to rise on Monday morning, don my party costume, take my powder rag in my hand, and never stop." And really there is little time being allowed for any change of costume between acts, so you had better do likewise.

FOURNOY RECEPTION AND EVENING PARTY

The Flournoy home on Harrison street was the scene of two pretty entertainments on Friday. From 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Carrie Flournoy and her daughters, Mrs. E.E. Ellis and Miss Mary Flournoy received their friends in honor of the bride in the family, Mrs. David M. Flournoy and her sister, Miss Julia Baxter Jones of Cartersville, Ga. The dominant color in the decorations were pink and the effect was very charming. The receiving party stood in the front parlor which was attractively decorated with gorgeous pink chrysanthemums, and included: Mesdames Carrie Flournoy, David Flournoy, E.E. Ellis, Denis Mocoquet, Miss Mary Flournoy and Miss Julia Jones.

Mrs. David Flournoy wore her bridal dress, a charming creation of white point lace over white satin.

Miss Jones' costume was embroidered white chiffon over white taffeta, a pretty gown worn as maid of honor at her sister's wedding.

Mrs. Denis Mocoquet, another recent bride, wore her elegant wedding dress of white crepe de chene over satin.

Mrs. J.O. Flournoy and Miss Dow Husbands ushered the guests into the dining room.

In this room the pink color effect was emphasized. The table had in the center an elegant lace centre piece with a cut glass vase of pink carnations. The silver candelabra had pink candles and shades, and around the edge of the table were laid fern leaves. Mrs. George Flournoy, Mrs. Lloyd Boswell, Mrs. Lillard Sanders and Miss McGlathery presided here very gracefully, and an attractive luncheon was served.

In the hall delightful fruit punch was served by Miss Carline Sowell and Miss Susanne Jorgenson of Princeton. The arrangement of the invitations, some being issued from 3 to 4, and others invited from 4 to 5, added to the pleasure of the afternoon, as the crowd was evenly divided and a crush at any time was avoided.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. David Flournoy entertained the younger people in compliment to Miss Julia Baxter Jones. A number were present and a "proposal party" was a feature of the evening. The occasion was very enjoyable.

A KENTUCKY GIRL TO WED ROSEBERRY.

The marriage of Lord Roseberry to the noted American beauty and fascinating widow, Mrs. Samuel Chauncey, is agitating all Mayfair, says the London dispatches.

Lord Roseberry has long been regarded as a confirmed widower, although not at all indifferent to the charms of women. His son, Lord Dalmeny, has just celebrated his majority. Mrs. Chauncey is the sister of Lord Newborough's wife, and her London home is 40 Harford street, near Park Lane, in the heart of fashionable Mayfair. She entertains elaborately, and is a member of the most prominent set in London, where royalty is not infrequently met.

Mrs. Chauncey is noted as being one of the best gowned women in society, and her dinners and luncheons are always paragraphed in the society columns. She resides part of the year on an estate near Cannes, France.

The fact that Mrs. Chauncey was a Kentucky girl, living in Louisville before her marriage, although born in Indiana, lends an additional interest to the romance.

"Twelve years ago all Louisville knew the beautiful Carr girls. Their father, Col. Carr, had died, leaving but a few thousand dollars in insurance. The family then lived on Jefferson street, below Twenty-second. At the death of Col. Carr his widow, instead of investing her money in a small way, bought elaborate wardrobes for her daughters and started on a tour of the big watering places. Within a short time thereafter Miss Alice Carr, the elder sister, had married Mr. Samuel Sloane Chauncey, a New York millionaire. After that marriage her mother and sister, Miss Grace, lived very modestly until Mr. Chauncey died. The widow then took her mother and sister with her to Europe. They lived part of the time in England and the rest of the time on an estate near Cannes, France.

"A little over a year ago Miss Grace Carr married Lord Newborough, a wealthy nobleman. Through this marriage Mrs. Chauncey gained admittance to the best circles of English society and met Lord Roseberry."

MISS ALINE BAGBY'S SUCCESS.

The host of friends here of Miss Aline Bagby will be interested in learning that last week she stood her entrance examination most successfully, and on Wednesday became a regular member of the "American Academy of Dramatic Arts." She was examined by Mr. Stephenson, the manager of the academy and of the Empire theater, who is pronounced the most competent dramatic critic in America. "Paola and Francesca" and "Jack the Giant-killer" were given by Miss Bagby in a way to win much honest commendation from the great man.

Mr. Stephenson considers that Miss Bagby has the true dramatic spirit, that which can no more help acting some day than one can help living. Her emotional power would be specially great, as was evidenced throughout her work, and prophesied a success limited only by her ambitions and desires.

This meed of praise will not surprise Miss Bagby's friends here, who have felt unbounded confidence in the recognition of her talent all along. She has exhibited a rare tenacity of purpose and supreme self-denial for one so young, and has studied only nine and a half hours a day since going to New York, with an interest and enthusiasm that recognizes no obstacles as insurmountable.

Miss Bagby and Miss Phil Pointer of Owensboro, Ky., who is, also, in New York this winter, were recently brought together by friends as Kentucky girls, not knowing that they had met in Paducah. The meeting was very delightful to both.

A CHARMING RECEPTION.

Mrs. A. B. Sowell and the Misses Sowell received on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at their home on West Broadway in especial compliment to Mrs. David M. Flournoy and Miss Fannie Taylor of Kansas City, Mo. The house was a bower of palms and ferns and looked most effective.

Mrs. George Flournoy and Mrs. David Sanders welcomed the guests in the reception hall.

In the drawingroom were Mrs. Sowell, Miss Taylor, Miss Sowell, Miss Carline Sowell, Mrs. David Flournoy, Mrs. George Thompson and Mrs. John G. Brooks, the receiving party proper. Mrs. C.E. Whitesides, Mrs. Warwick Cowgill, Mrs. Victor Voris, Mrs. L.A. Washington, Mrs. George C. Wallace, Mrs. Edward Vaughan, Miss Minnie Ratcliffe, and Miss Cornie Grundy did the honors in the back parlor.

Mrs. Elizabeth Austin, Mrs. Milton Cope and Mrs. J. H. Porter ushered the guests into the dining room, which was a charming symphony in red. The table with a white organdie cover over red red carnations for the center piece, silver candelabra with red candles and shades, was a brilliant picture. Mrs. Laura Fowler and Mrs. May Rieke presided at each end of the table, serving coffee and chocolate, and were assisted by Misses Mabel Rieke, Hallie Hisey, Evelyn Walker, Maude Atkins of Dyersburg, Tenn.; Laura Sanders, Ruth Weil, Minnie Terrell and Martha Davis. A delightful course-luncheon was served, the punch and peppermints emphasizing the red effect most artistically.

CHARITY CLUB'S TEA.

A notably successful and pretty affair was the initial afternoon tea of the Charity club on Monday from 3 to 5 o'clock. The charming home of Mrs. Victor Voris on West Broadway lent itself readily as an effective background to the picturesque scene, and the popularity of the hostess and the club members insured a large crowd. A number of gentlemen called late and added variety and interest to the occasion. The callers entering were graciously welcomed by Miss Martha Davis and Miss Laura Sanders in the hall; here an orchestra played rag-time music during the afternoon.

In the pretty parlor Mrs. Voris, Miss Emma Reed and Mrs. Cook Husbands were stationed. Mrs. Hubbard S. Wells, Mrs. George B. Hart, Miss Mae Paxton, Miss Elizabeth Sinnott, Miss Julia Scott, Miss Martha Leech and Miss Anna Mae Yeiser did the honors in the Red Room. In an attractive Japanese corner candy was sold by Miss Myrtle Decker, Miss Carline Sowell, Miss Henrietta Koger and Miss Mabel Rieke.

In the dining room the samovar of Russian tea was presided over by Mrs. John P. Campbell, and the guests were charmingly served with tea and wafers by Miss Florence Yeiser, Miss Lula Reed and Miss Clara Thompson.

The occasion was delightfully informal and established the afternoon teas of the Charity club as "something worth while" for society all winter. The goodly sum of $30 was realized for the charity fund on Monday afternoon.

MRS. ROBB'S CARD PARTY.

A pretty card party was given by Mrs. Will Robb on Wednesday afternoon at her home at Fifth and Court streets. The house was attractively decorated, pink and white being the color-motif. Dainty souvenirs of pink and white carnations were presented each guest. The first prize was won by Mrs. Harris Rankin. The lone hand prize was captured by Miss Mabel Rieke. The consolation prize was awarded to Miss Emily Morrow.

An elaborate course luncheon was served after the game, emphasizing the pink and white idea.

The guests included: Mesdames L. W. Emery, Kate Wilson, C. E. Lining, R. G. Terrell, Charles K. Wheeler, Lillard Sanders, Henry Thompson, May Rieke, Leslie Soule, Milton G. Cope, Joseph Gardner, Harry McElwee, Minnie Rankin, Marvin Quick, Harris Rankin, Wynne Tully, Ben Weille, Sallie Morrow, Will Clark; Misses Cornie Grundy, Minnie Ratcliffe, Faith Langstaff, Mabel Rieke, Mildred Terrell, Myra DuBois, May Orme, Mary Brazelton, Ada Thompson, Clara Thompson, Martha Davis, Hallie Hisey, Polly Ferriman, Emily Morrow.

ENJOYABLE STORM PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Leech were "stormed" on Friday evening at their pretty home on Madison street, and a most pleasant evening was enjoyed. Eight-handed euchre and flinch were played. The gentleman's prize was won by Mr. Will Reike, and the ladies prize by Mrs. Max Nahn, of Bowling Green. Mrs. Urey Woodson, of Owensboro, received the booby prize. A Dutch lunch was served late and a general good time was the order of the evening.

The party included Mr. and Mrs. Urey Woodson, of Owensboro, Messrs. and Mesdames John Keiler, Cook Husbands, O.L. Gregory, George Wallace, I.D. Wilcox, Dr. and Mrs. Victor Voris, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd, Mrs. Baxter Pace of Louisville, Mesdames Max Nahn, of Bowling Green, W. A. Gardner, John P. Campbell, Misses Myrtle Roper of Golconda, Elizabeth Sinnott, Martha Leech, Carrie Rieke, Emma Reed, Mattie Fowler, Martha Davis, Messrs. Cunningham of Clarksville, Charles Reed, Will Rieke, Abram Weil, Wallace Weil and Dr. J.Q. Taylor.

A pretty wedding of the week was that of Miss Susan Jones and Mr. James Porter Sleeth which took place on Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. The church was beautifully decorated with evergreen and potted plants, and was crowded with the friends of the popular young couple. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. W.E. Cave, D. D., and Prof. Harry Gilbert was at the organ. The bridal couple were preceded to the altar by the ushers: Mr. Joseph Sinnott and Mr. Oscar Hank, Mr. Louis Rieke, Jr. and Mr. Richard Scott, Dr. John Oehlschlaeger and Dr. Edward Pettit.

The bride looked very handsome in a tailor gown of oyster with hat to match and carried violets.

The couple left on the 7:05 train for New Orleans, Fort Tampa and Cuba, and on their return will be at home at the Sleeth residence on South Sixth street.

SANS SOUCI CLUB.

Mrs. William Gilbert entertained the Sans Souci club and other guests very charmingly at her home on North Eighth street on Wednesday afternoon. Cards were played and the first prize was won by Mrs. Clara Burnett. The consolation prize was secured by Mrs. Edward Vaughan. A delightful course luncheon was served after the game.

Mrs. Gilbert's guests were: Mesdames Warwick M. Cowgill, J. W. Pulliam, David Van Culin, Thomas C. Leech, David Sanders, Edward Vaughan, Clara Burnett; Misses Graham of Tennessee, Julia Merritt of Baltimore, Fannie Taylor of Kansas City, Susan Polk Temple, Lulu Reed, Florence Yeiser, Anne Boswell, Mary Boswell, Anna May Yeiser, Nell Paxton, Ruth Weil, Laura Sanders, Margie Crumbaugh, Lucie Robiou, Sallie Husbands, Henrietta Koger.

MAGAZINE CLUB.

Mrs. George Flournoy was the hostess of the Magazine club on Wednesday afternoon. Several interesting reports were made from the leading magazines. Miss Helen Lowry gave a resume of "Landscapes in Literature," from Littell's Living Age, and Mrs. John Campbell told entertainingly of "Real Characters in Fiction," from the same magazine. The Century was represented by Miss Elizabeth Sinnott, who gave a graphic sketch of "Salvini." "The Spirit of Christmas" was vivaciously given by Miss Caroline Robiou, who is on the Forum. A charming course luncheon was served at the conclusion of the reports in Mrs. Flournoy's usual attractive style.

The next regular meeting of the club will be on Thursday, January 29, with Miss Julia Scott.

WHIST CLUB ENTERTAINED.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wallerstein entertained the Whist club most pleasantly at their hospitable home on North Seventh street on Wednesday evening. The ladies' prize was won by Mrs. Jeanette Weille and the gentlemen's prize by Mr. H. Wallerstein. A delightful lunch varied the evening's pleasure.

Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Jacob Wallerstein, M. Schwab, Adolph Weil; Mesdames David Levy of St. Louis Jeanette Weille, Henry Weil, E. B. Schwartz-enborger; Messrs. Charles Weille, James Greenbaum.

COMPLIMENTARY TO VISITOR.

Miss Ina Dunn entertained a limited number of her friends very pleasantly on Tuesday evening at her home on South Fourth street in compliment to Miss Fannie Jones of Henderson. The evening was most enjoyably spent with games and music, and delightful refreshments were served. Those present were: Misses Goldie Spore, Lillian Garrett, Mae Moss, Fannie Jones of Henderson; Messrs. Sam Washington, Earl Dunn, Lee Garrett, John Wilkins, Hugh Garrett.

U. D. C. CALLED TO MEET.

The Daughters of the Confederacy are called to meet on Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Victoria Thompson, Jefferson street.

All the members are urged to be present to consider business of importance. Miss Florence Barlow of Louisville, associate editor of the "Lost Cause," is in the city and will meet with the chapter. She is here in the interest of the Kentucky Confederate home.

INFORMAL DINING THIS EVENING.

Mr. and Mrs. Musce Burnett will entertain informally at dinner this evening at their home on West Broadway. The occasion is a charming compliment to Mrs. Baxter Pace of Louisville, their guest, and celebrates the third anniversary of her wedding. The guests are: Mr. and Mrs. Cook Husbands, Miss Emma Reed, Miss Carrie Rieke and Mr. Charles F. Rieke.

MISSIONARY TEA.

The Missionary tea of Grace Episcopal church met with Mrs. Warwick M. Cowgill of West Jefferson street on Friday afternoon. Interesting reports from "The Spirit of Missions" were given by Miss Alice Compton and Miss Caroline Robiou. A fine talk on "Missionary Work" was made by Rev. John W. Sykes. There was a large attendance.

WOMAN'S COMMITTEE.

The woman's committee of the Y. M. C. A., is meeting this afternoon at the association. The purpose is to arrange the date and otherwise perfect plans for the concert soon to be given for the benefit of the association by Prof. Harry Gilbert's orchestra in connection with the Choral society. It will be a great musical event.
